A TALK IN A STORE,

Which Led to a Backslider's Restoration.

I was making a purchase in a store in this city when the clerk who was serving me, seeing my Army brooch which I wore, passed the remark, "I see you are a Salvationist."

This led to a conversation, during which he told me of a time when he had also lived for God and had been used by Him in leading many souls to His feet. But he had allowed one thing after another to come between God and him, until he was a backslider. Reminding him of the influence his wrong step was having on others, and telling him of a God Who waits to pardon and forgive backsliders, I left the store, asking God to use what had been said. Before I reached home, these words came to me with great force:—

"For life's burdens they are easy, And life's sorrows lose their sting, If they're carried, Lord, to please Thee."

If their pain Thy smile but win,
I wrote the lines down on a slip

Recounts Tales of the Battlefields

ENOS BACON DELIGHTED A WINNIPEG AUDIENCE WITH HIS EXPERIENCES IN FRANCE.

(From the Winnipeg "Free Press.")

"I FOUND a poor Irishman crawling along on his stomach on the battlefield of Mons. He was shot through both ankles. 'What's the matter?' I asked. 'I'm pained,' he piped up, with a smile. 'Where?'—In the ankles. 'Does it hurt?'—Well, what do you think? he flushed back. 'Where are you trying to get to?'—Listen, he said, 'do you hear someone singing over in that old farmhouse. That's where I want to go.'"

"I picked the Irishman up on my back and carried him over to the old farmhouse, and inside we saw a wonderful sight. There was a badly-crippled soldier sitting there propped up against the wall. He had two others with him, both wounded. He was a Salvation Army man, and his training was standing him in good stead. He was singing to them. The Irishman was a Roman Catholic, of Grace Church to accommodate the crowd in attendance, and for upwards of an hour Mr. Bacon described vividly the wonderfully care-free spirit, the effortless happiness, and the constant cheerful attitude of Tommy Atkins under all conditions. Mr. Bacon is the Dickens type of jovial Englishman himself, and he brought many a laugh by his humorous stories of the British soldier in the trenches.

"I saw them get a bath once," he said; "they used big vats in a building formerly used for manufacturing purposes, and fourteen of them climbed in at a time. You never saw such splashing. I heard a Cockney voice, 'I'd, Bill; like yer lot out o' my mouf, will yer?' And how they would sing and sing. "They tell the story of a Tommy who had been marching all day and was coming into camp dead tired. He was dragging his way along, one

On Friday evening, the premises were crowded by the Vancouver people, three hundred in all, who came to see the new hall.

Before the war, the Young People's Comrades at Northwiche, of the decorations for conspicuous service in rescuing wounded comrades. The brother, who is now at the Central Hall and was very enthusiastic, will be an encouragement to our comrades and friends. Our work during the last few years has made good progress in Geneva. The Commissioner also conducted two special meetings in the Casino at Lausanne. In the afternoon the meeting was devoted to the Young People, between thirty and forty Life-saving Scouts being present. The evening meeting wound up with a number of souls at the Cross. Mrs. Oliphant has been conducting some very interesting meetings, large numbers of people attending the same. In Drieux, some one hundred and eighty persons were present, and at the conclusion of the meeting, the speaker, who had been recommended by the Victoria Cross, Mr. Hughes, writing home, there was a man doing good, being in the trenches, who had been recommended by the Victoria Cross. The Brigadier then addressed the audience, and said to the effect of a local paper (the "Northwiche Chronicle"): "I remember a comrade named Chantrel, who was a brave lad, and during the last of one day he did nothing but run out of the trench and wounded soldiers in; if ever was a case for the V.C., it was his. He was a wonderful man, and he was doing his best to help his comrades. But something happened to him that night; I have not heard of him since."—British "Cry."

THE WAR IN SWITZERLAND

ADVANCEMENT IN BERNE—HELPING GERMAN, AUSTRIAN, AND FRENCH REFUGEES IN THE SALVATION ARMY OFFICERS AT THE FRONT.

THE ITALIAN EARTHQUAKE

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Commissioner Oliphant has recently conducted the Thirty-second Anniversary of The Army in Geneva. This gathering, which was held in the Central Hall and was very enthusiastic, will be an encouragement to our comrades and friends. Our work during the last few years has made good progress in Geneva. The Commissioner also conducted two special meetings in the Casino at Lausanne. In the afternoon the meeting was devoted to the Young People, between thirty and forty Life-saving Scouts being present. The evening meeting wound up with a number of souls at the Cross. Mrs. Oliphant has been conducting some very interesting meetings, large numbers of people attending the same. tion with the same a special ten-day campaign will be conducted by Commissioner and Mrs. Oliphant, assisted by the Chief Secretary and other Officers. This campaign will include special Salvation meetings, demonstrations, officers' meetings, Poor Feasts for live hundred adults, and also a Children's Feast, at which five hundred little ones will take part, winning up with a second Sunday of Salvation. Officers on Military Service. We have just received the news that Lieutenant Bremer has died of wounds received in the war in France. The Lieutenant was a German by birth, but entered The Army in Switzerland in 1911. His last position was in charge of our Men's Home in Geneva. He was a well-educated young man and had been at Headquarters for some two years. We hoped that he had a useful career before him. He was very anxious to become a naturalized Swiss, but at the outbreak of war, after some hesitancy, he decided to go to Germany. We heard from him a little time ago and he was in good spirits, but, of course, feeling the seriousness of his position. He has two or three other brothers in the war.

We have also received the news that the brother of Ensign Horcher has fallen in East Prussia. After the outbreak of war, this young man sought Salvation, and so although his death has caused great sorrow in the family, yet they have the comfort of knowing he was ready for the Home Call. All our other comrade Officers who have been called from Switzerland to military service in Germany are quite well. They each received a special letter with a gift of money from the Comrades-in-Christians. They seem to be in good spirits, but, of course, they understand its seriousness, especially those who are in the fighting line. A number of our officers are in the Ambulance Corps, which position brings many opportunities of working for their Master.

Lieutenant Muller, late Leader of the Men's Home in Paris, is quite well. He is from Alsace, and is now doing service in Russia. He has been promoted to the rank of Captain, a Lieutenant-Colonel in the German army, through the instrumentality of the Salvation Army in Berlin. He has been employed in the Editorial Department there, and at the outbreak of war was called as a reserve officer to the front. The Italian Earthquake. We have just received the information from our friends in Italy, that the chief authorities have approached him with the request that we should take in one hundred of the earthquake refugees from the Averara district round about Rome, into our Shelter. The Commissioner has telegraphed the Major agreeing to this, and these poor unfortunate people, who are suffering from the earthquake, will be provided with food, and our people, naturally, are doing all they can for the comfort of these poor Italian people.

NEW HOME FOR GIRLS

PARENTS' GRATITUDE FOR HELPING SON.

A commodious house has been secured at Buxwood, a suburb of Sydney (Australia), to which the girls from the Home at Manly have been transferred. The latter building has now been linked up with the adjoining Men's Home, and is being used for accommodation to a hundred and twenty. A touching letter has been received by the Officer in charge of the Box Hill (Victoria), Home for Boys from the parents of a lad who had caused them a great deal of anxiety, and who had on seven occasions, run away from the Institution to which he had been sent. At length he was refused re-admission there, and was then received in The Army's Home. After being there a few months he had become a changed man, and subsequently returned home. His health has recently taken place and the parents write: "You won our boy's heart for love and it is a great pleasure for us to tell his old companions in the Home how, through your influence, a great change for good came over his life. We ask you to accept a cheque for ten pounds ($20) as a thank-offering for kindness shown to a poor, wayward lad."

"THE WAR CRY" ON A FREIGHT TRAIN. The Railroad Man Seemed to Appreciate the Gift.

Publication Sergeant Robinson, of Aurora, Ont., sends the following account of a recent experience whilst "The War Cry" sailing: "While on my rounds I have to cross a railroad track, and have crossed that track a number of times before and nothing had happened. But on this day a freight train was shunting and I had to wait for it to go by. A brakeman standing at the switch which was quite near, saw me standing there. He waited until the cars had past (they had to go back to the siding), then told me to go on, and while there was the chance, stopping the car long enough for me to go over.

"Now, one good turn deserves another. I always think, but I did not think of it until now, that I was on the road. So you see that one opportunity had come. Well, I had to go by the station after going to one or two customers. Again an opportunity had come. I was just about to pull out, so I thought I would go and give one of the men in the station a copy of the paper. I went to the man, a thought came to me: 'I wonder if he will read it?' 'I went on to another customer, and just as I was going to the next station, I was told to stop. I went round I saw the man sitting in the cab of the engine reading away at 'The War Cry.' It did my heart good to see him read it. I gave him a good copy for the Kingdom of God."

If we work upon marble, it will perish. If we work upon brass, time will efface it. If we rear temples, they crumble into dust. But if we work upon immortal principles, with the just fear of God and love of fellow-men, we engrave upon those tablets something which will brighten all eternity.

but there was no denominations on the battlefield. When soldiers are wounded they are all men. He joined in the refrain with the rest of us. We sang "Through the Valley of the Shadow, and this is the way it goes."

It was Enns Bacon, the Yorkshire singer, who recited this narrative from his personal experience at Grace Church yesterday afternoon, and sitting down to a piano, which eight stalwart soldiers had hoisted to the platform, he sang the uplifting refrain and chorus—first in a clear soprano, and then in a lusty tenor voice. He is gifted with this peculiar vocal attainment, and the audience listened with considerable surprise. Then it joined in the chorus, and seemed to enjoy it.

Crowd Was Large One.

It was necessary to drop down all the hinged benches around the walls leg saying to the other: 'Let me go by this time and I'll let you go by next.' The number on his brass tag was 246. Presently he came by the chaplain's tent, and the hymn was just being announced. "No. 246," came the preacher's voice, "Art thou weary, art thou heavy laden?" "Tommy poked his head through the flap of the tent. 'Not arf,' he said."

Men Never Complain.

Mr. Bacon told how the men in the trenches were covered from head to toe with mud. "I've eaten lots of it," one man told him. But the boys in the trenches never complained. The speaker told of the songs he had sung to them in the trenches. One of them had a great swing to it, and the audience joined in the chorus. "To cheer the way, to cheer the way, there's nothing like half a song to cheer the way."

ZULUS AT OPEN-AIR MEETING

RESULT OF SIX YEARS' SALVATION WORK.

During the concluding week-end campaign in Natal, Commissioner Eddie led a wonderful outdoor meeting with Zulus at The Mountain View Farm. Describing the gathering, Lieutenant Smith (the Native Secretary): "As the Hall could not accommodate the large crowd of Zulus, the Salvation meeting was held under the wattle trees. Between three and four hundred Zulus were present. The front was a joyous scene of earthly happiness, noise, but we should have been reminded in the spirit and power of the Gospel. The Brigadier then addressed the audience, and said to the effect of a local paper (the "Northwiche Chronicle"): "I remember a comrade named Chantrel, who was a brave lad, and during the last of one day he did nothing but run out of the trench and wounded soldiers in; if ever was a case for the V.C., it was his. He was a wonderful man, and he was doing his best to help his comrades. But something happened to him that night; I have not heard of him since."—British "Cry."

NORTH-BATTLEFIELD

We held our annual residential parts of the day, Feb. 7th, and were very successful. This was the first time we visited these parts of the country. The result was a great success. We were very well received by the people of the Northwiche. The Captain Commissioner was very busy with preparations for the opening of the new Central Hall in Berne, which will take place on March 4th. In connection with this, we are now preparing to assist the thousands of war who are incapacitated from taking any further part in the fighting. Large numbers of these are expected. The Swiss people are already volunteering to render assistance possible.

The gratefulness of these poor people themselves is touching in the extreme and they are always pleased to see our uniform. They are now busy with preparations for the opening of the new Central Hall in Berne, which will take place on March 4th. In connection with this, we are now preparing to assist the thousands of war who are incapacitated from taking any further part in the fighting. Large numbers of these are expected. The Swiss people are already volunteering to render assistance possible.

For even people with bad memories manage to remember when the matter touches their feelings or their pockets.

ARMY SONGS

THE CLEANSING BLOOD.

Tunes.—I'm sure that the Blood will save.

Come, let us sing of the cleansing Blood,

I'm sure that the Blood will save!
Tis the symbol of the Father's love,
I'm sure that the Blood will save!
For this was God's appointed way,
His Son He sent our debts to pay,
So He on Him our sins did lay,
I'm sure that the Blood will save!

Chorus.

I'm sure that the Blood will save!
And wonders it will do for me as well as you.

I'm sure that the Blood will save!
(Repeat.)

And now before the Throne He stands,
Bearing the wound-prints in His hands;
His presence there prevails for all,
Who have been ruined by the fall,
So now obey His gracious call.

No spot of guilt need now remain,
His Blood will wash out every stain;
And now this stream doth round us roll,
Then come and wash thy guilty soul,
And thou by faith shalt be made whole.

TAKE MY ALL.

Tunes.—Nottingham, 65; Innocents, 83; Theodora, 379; Song Book, 781.
Take my life, and let it be
Consecrated, Lord, to Thee;
Take my moments and my days,
Let them flow in ceaseless praise.

Take my hands and let them move
At the impulse of Thy love;
Take my feet and let them be
Swift and beautiful for Thee.

Take my silver and my gold,
Not a mite would I withhold;
Take my intellect, and use
Every power as Thou shalt choose.

DO NOT TARRY.

Tunes.—Never can tell, 148; Song Book, 127.
Listen to the invitation,
"Come, ye weary, come to Me!"
Come, and you shall find Salvation!
Will you not to Jesus flee?

Chorus.

You never can tell when the Lord
will call you,
You never can tell when your end
will be;

Cast your poor soul in the sin-
cleansing fountain,
Come and get saved, and happy be.

Jésus loves you, do not tarry,
Hasten to His side to-day;
And by faith on Him relying,
All your guilt will roll away.

COME TO-NIGHT.

Tune.—Song Book, 30.
Hark, sinner! Jesus calls for thee,
Come to-night!
He offers peace and liberty,
Come to-night!
He waits to pardon all thy sin,
To cleanse and make thee pure within.

For freedom now apply to Him,
Come to-night!

Oh, do not spurn His offered grace,
Come to-night!
There's welcome and a fond embrace.

Come to-night!
Remember how Thy Lord was slain,
Think of His agony and pain,
That He thy pardon might obtain,
Come to-night!

My many sins are all forgiven,
I'm sure that the Blood does save!
My title deeds are clear for Heaven,
I'm sure that the Blood does save!
And from my heart the burden's gone.

And now I sing a glad new song,
Not only now but all day long,
I'm sure that the Blood does save!

ORANGEVILLE, ONT.

A very enjoyable week-end was spent, Feb. 20th-21st, when Brother Hanks, from Brampton, and Brother Miller, from Tottenham, visited us. Brother Miller took charge of the Free-and-Easy in the afternoon, while the Captain and Brother Hanks went up to the House of Refuge to conduct a meeting. Brother Miller's few words were an inspiration to all. The evening service was conducted by Brother Hanks, and was a time of spiritual blessing.

The Young People's Work is still going on, and we have started Ambulance Classes for the boys and girls in our Band of Love. The Soldiers are all rallying well to both open-air and indoor meetings.—J.

CORNWALL, ONT.

We had fine attendances for the meetings conducted on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 20th and 21st, by Captain Lawson and Lieutenant G. Turner. Kneel drill was a blessed time. Lieutenant Turner conducted the service at the goal, when five persons held up hands for prayer. The Band was in the front, and under the leadership of Bandmaster Collins, did good service all day. Captain Lawson will be saying goodbye to Cornwall next Sunday, and Captain Daniels, who is on furlough, will be coming back on March 1.

SEVEN SURRENDERS.

Toronto I. Comrades in for Souls.

Sunday's meeting (Feb. 21st) at Toronto I. were conducted by Ensign Beattie. Mrs. Beattie, we regret to say, was unable to be present because of sickness. The Holiness meeting was full of blessing; the Ensign's words were of great help. Two came out for Salvation. The night's meeting was splendid, and finished up with the Cross. Adjutant Malone has taken up the Junior Work, and we feel sure that, by God's help, she will make it a great success. The results for two Soldiers' meeting past total fourteen souls for consecration and sanctification.—R. W.

PACQUET, NFLD.

Captain Kean, of Tilt Cove, travelled twenty-five miles, on Jan. 4th, to this place, and conducted two weddings. Enjoyable times were spent, and on the following evening a large meeting was held in the Methodist schoolroom, when we had a large attendance. At the close one soul surrendered. The Captain and Sergeant-Major Andrews left again for Tilt Cove, the same evening at midnight. On the same night as ours a great Salvation meeting was held at La Scie, when eight souls surrendered.—O. S.

MONTREAL II.

We had a very heart-searching time in the Holiness meeting on Sunday, Feb. 21st, also throughout the day. At night Mrs. Cooper took the lesson, which was centred on "Peace." There were two souls for the week-end.—W. G. E.
